Keeping Up - -

With Uplanders

By V. V. P.

INDUSTRIAL CENTER

Cucamonga's industrial center is steadily growing.

Sebastian Filipi, pioneer resident of the community made famous by Jack Benny and others, had an idea that if suitable facilities were provided, industrial firms would locate in his area. And so, he cleared 50 or so acres of land and erected an attractive building. Soon it was leased. He put up two more. . . .and now the fifth building in his "industrial center" is going up.

At this rate, all of the 50 acres will be covered with buildings, to serve small and medium-sized industries. The site is on the extension of Upland's Ninth St. between Hellman and Archibald Aves.

EXPANSION

Speaking of industries, this year has seen more development than any previous 12 months. One of the major additions is the B. P. John Furniture Co. in Alta Loma, where furniture is being produced for the southland retail trade.

Expansion of the Scheu Steel, Supply Co. to a new building on Vineyard Ave. is also a major development. The development of the rock industry in this area has been also significant.

CRIBBAGE TOURNEY

A cribbage tourney is being conducted here.

We hasten to report on it because we are one of the principals and at the moment, we are even with our opponent. In another day or two, the wife might be ahead of us, so we are reporting now.

MAILMEN

Mail doesn't stay very long in the Upland post office. In fact, it can't — there is no room for it. About as fast as patrons post their letters and packages, it is sorted and delivered, locally and elsewhere. Even with the swift movement, everything is bulging, the carriers' sorting cases, tables and mail bags.

Normally, the mail volume is heavy here. The Christmas mail, of course, is several times the volume of the normal flow.

It is a real inspiration to see how smoothly the local office meets the challenge.

"We really appreciate the loyalty and hard work of our regular staff," declared John James, assistant to Postmaster Roy A. Ray. And then he observed: "Look at that fellow's case — packed with letters. It is amazing how smooth the mail flow continues.

'We appreciate all that is being done by our regular help and the extra employes."

It is fine for Mr. James to recognize the fine work of his crew. But it is all of us in the community who should appreciate the interest [illegible] of our mailmen.

Unofficial reports from local retail stores indicate that new sales volume figures are being established during the best Christmas selling season in the city's history.

While some retail centers are reporting declines in commercial activity, the local situation is showing improvement. The five remaining Christmas "shopping days" are expected to add to the sales records.

Customers and business people are hopefully awaiting the establishment of off-street parking lots in the downtown area to further facilitate shopping in Upland.

FIRST BENCHES FOR 2ND AVE.

Installation of the first two benches on Second Ave. in downtown Upland will be realized within a week, with foundation work for the benches being undertaken today.

City Manager Elwin Alder said the first two benches will be placed midway between Ninth and "C" Sts. on Second Ave., one on either side of the street and adjacent to the mid-block crosswalks.

Mystery Surrounds 2 Deaths; $1200 Savings Still Missing

By GERRY McGEER

Less than three weeks ago murder and suicide rocked a quiet Cucamonga neighborhood. Soft spoken Richard Holliday, 53, of 8107 Tapia Via, took his own life after killing his wife of six weeks.

Murdered Mrs. Margaret Butler Holliday was handsome and wore expensive clothes. Her effects, unless hidden with the money which caused her death, contained no jewelry, although she possessed at least one expensive ring.

Difficulties and arguments over money and marital discord had led to the tragedy, according to the findings of Deputy Coroner E. J. Coger, who investigated, along with the San Bernardino Sheriff's officers.

Since that time the mystery surrounding the case has deepened for all of the money, savings of $1200, which Holliday possessed have completely disappeared.

Willed All To Sister

The dead man's last word's written to his sister, Mrs. Myrtle Schubert of Fontana, willed all he possessed to her and to his parents in New Mexico. In the brief note which he wrote he also accused his wife of taking his money, Mrs. Schubert disclosed to The Upland News.

It was not until after the deaths, when Mrs. Schubert became the administratrix, that she learned that one week before the two deaths both husband and wife had made wills by which the surviving member inherited the other's property. By these terms Mrs. Holliday's possessions go to his heirs.

Dick Holliday had no bank account. His tract home had a balance owing of more than $5500. Since the death of his first wife last May his sister, Mrs. Schubert, had been the custodian of his cash funds.

It has been substantiated by envelopes found in the Holliday home that she had turned this money, amounting to $1200, over to him and he had told his sister he would have his second wife put it in the bank.

He did not use checking accounts, for his last house payment in the form of a money order, was in the home when he died. His sister believes that his insurance and other payments were made in the same way. All were up to date.

There was no bank book in the house but there were keys to a safety deposit bank. When Mrs. Schubert went with a

'Lollipop Lane' Added To City Yule Displays

"Lollipop Lane" has been added to Upland's Christmas season attractions, with a dozen neighbors in southwest Upland on Elizabeth lane and Vine Ave. originating the third neighborhood Christmas project.

Mrs. Chas. Doyle, 238 S. Vine, originated the "lollipop" decoration plan and the couples of the neighborhood worked to make the 20 and 15-inch lollipops decorating their homes. The project was installed Saturday and is lighted nightly for view by motorists. Vine Ave. is reached from W. Seventh St., extending north, and Elizabeth lane extends east from Vine midway between Seventh and Eighth Sts.

"Candy Cane Lane" on N. Second Ave. was installed Saturday and is lighted nightly. "The Christmas Story", Upland's original neighborhood presentation covering a block square, was not installed over the weekend due to the heavy rain, but will be installed Saturday and lighted for the first time this year Saturday night. said part of the lighting has been installed and will be completed for the Saturday Warren Wilken, chairman, night "lights on" opening.

This beautiful Christmas story tableau is told on the lawns of homes in the block bounded by Campus Ave. on the east, Arrow Hwy. on the south, Sixth Ave. on the west and "F" St. on the north. Motorists should start at Campus and Arrow, proceeding west on Arrow, north on Sixth, east on F and south on Campus, to view the story displays in the proper sequence.

Upland and Ontario's "Christmas Tree Lane" in the Euclid Ave. parkway is also delighting residents and visitors, as the white trees ornamented with multi-colored lights create a Christmas fairyland under the famous pepper trees through Upland and Ontario.

Group Favors Expanding On City Hall Site

Expansion of the existing Upland civic center, west from Second Ave. to Euclid Ave., is the recommendation the Upland Capitol Improvements Civic Center committee will make to Upland city council in mid-January.

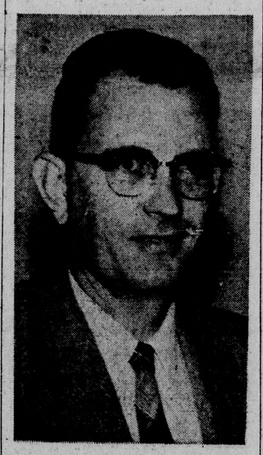

The committee has considered four site studies in its study sessions and investigations. The Buck property at Third Ave. and "C" St., now scheduled for commercial development, was one of the sites receiving study.

Don Gannon, committee chairman, said the group concluded that expansion of the existing city hall was the most sound program for the city to follow.

In January, the city council will receive the Civic Center committee to develop a plan reports from the Parks and Recreation and the Water groups of the capitol improvements committees. The council will then select a 'ways and means" committee from the membership of the three committes to develop a plan for realizing the recommendations of the three study groups.

Members of the water committee include Chairman Gannon, Allan S. Barr, Harvey Siegrist, Robt. S. Gray, City Planning Commissioner Geo. Whitney, and Councilmen Robt. Thrall and Dwight Bert.

Del Hensley New Planning Commissioner

Delbert Hensley, Upland realtor for the past five years in association with Earl Hawthorne, and a long-time Uplander, is today the new member of Upland city planning commission. Mr. Hensley was appointed by the city council to fill the vacancy left by Ralph Hunt, who has moved to Palm Springs. Mr. Hensley has just completed a year as president of the Ontario-Upland Realty board, and his new appointment marks the first time a realtor has served on the planning commission.

Ticket 134079 Worth $100 To Holder

December winner of the Upland Dividend Days' $100 cash gift is the holder of ticket No. 134079, it was announced Tuesday after the monthly drawing by Mae Lynn Campbell, chairman of the Merchants' division, Upland chamber of commerce, and Mrs. Lillian Hilde, Chamber secretary.

DROP THIS COUPON IN BOX 134079

Holder of the winning ticket has until 8:30 p.m. (store closing time) Saturday, Dec. 20, to claim the $100 cash prize at Dier's Shoe store, 241 N. Second Ave. Mr. Dier said the December winner has 3½-hour time extension to claim the $100, due to the 8:30 p.m. Saturday closing time of downtown stores for the pre-Christmas shoppers.

The winning ticket was drawn from several thousand tickets collected from the sponsoring business houses and placed in a master container. Each visitor to the participating stores during last week's three-day D-Days event could register and receive a ticket for the drawing. Shoppers were also given tickets with their purchases.

Last month, the $100 prize had not been claimed in Sept. and Oct. so the November drawing was for $300. Winner of the $300 was Donna Porn, 1222 E. Ninth St., Upland.

Monday Mail Volume Sets New Record

Holiday mail volume reached its peak in Upland on Monday of this week, according to Postmaster Roy A. Ray, when both first class mail cancellations and parcel post handling topped last year's record day.

First class cancellations on Monday totalled 62,000 in the Upland post office, as compared to 59,000 for the heaviest mail day of the 1956 Christmas season here. Parcels mailed Monday totaled 1312, 217 more than the 1095 for the record mail day of the 1956 yule season.

Postmaster Ray is enthusiastic over the new "central distribution point" system introduced in Southern California this year after being successfully inaugurated in a Los Angeles area last season.

In previous years, some postal clerks in the local office worked until 2 a.m. to complete processing a day's mail. Monday night, all Christmas mail assistants were through working by 7:30 p.m. and all postal workers were home by 9 p.m., Mr. Ray said. This shows clearly the big improvement the new mail handling system is achieving.

Until Monday, the holiday mail volume in the Upland post office was under the same period for 1956, but with increases this week, the total is expected to surpass any previous year.

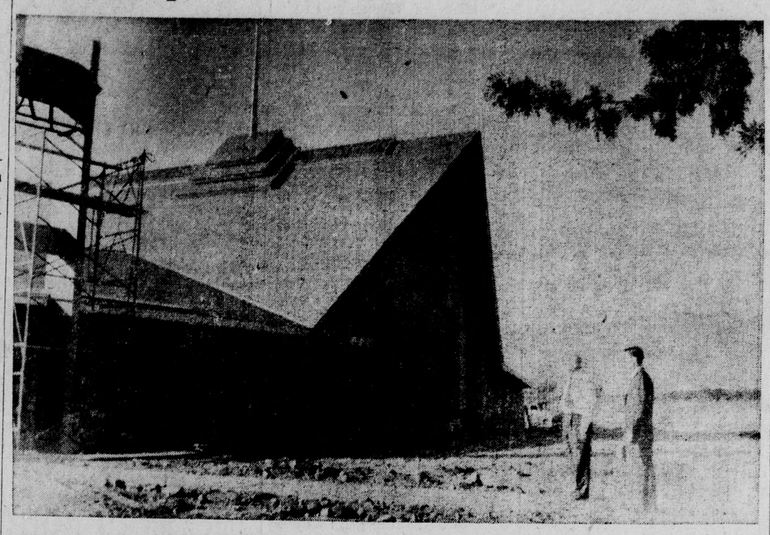

No Christmas Day Dumping, Collections

Homer Greear, city street superintendent, announced today that the city disposal site at Campus Ave. and 14th St. will be closed Christmas day, and city trash and garbage collection trucks will be inoperative.

Residents normally receiving trash or garbage collection service on Wednesday will be served next week on Thursday, Dec. 26.

Mr. Greear also reminded residents receiving garbage collection on Tuesdays that the city trucks will henceforth arrive at each address an hour earlier than in the past. The garbage truck crews now begin their working day at 7 a.m. instead of 8 a.m.

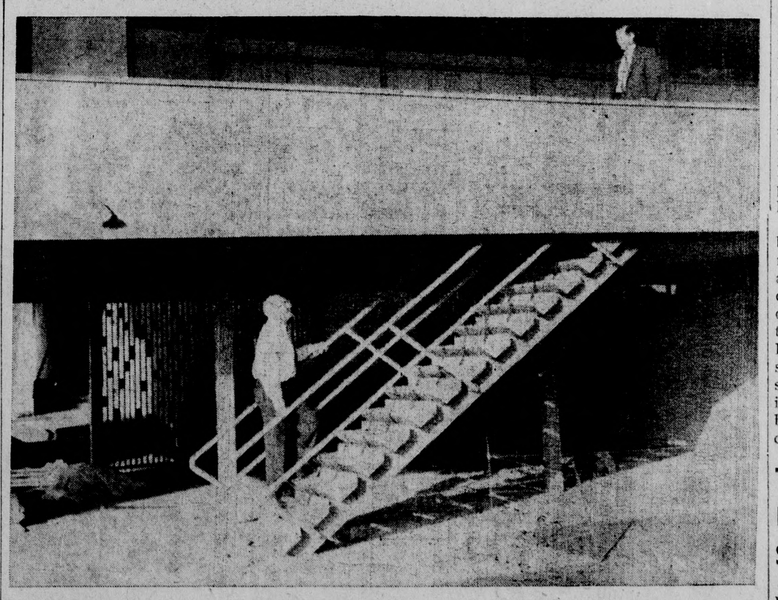

Presbyterian Facilities Near Completion

AT THE MAIN ENTRANCE to the new First Presbyterian church, the Rev. Hart and Mr. Fischer observe the sidewalk paving operation going on about the front terrace. This main frontage faces west to Laurel Ave. One of the expanses of beautiful stonework in the edifice, done by G. A. Brest, can be seen at right.

EDUCATIONAL UNIT of the new First Presbyterian church is built in a U-plan about a grassed quad, with the north wing, adjacent to the sanctuary of two-story construction. Here Mr. Fischer ascends the stairs to the upper balcony-hallway. Beyond Mr. Fischer can be seen the open-air entry corridor to the educational quadrangle, featuring a wooden grillwork planter area and yet to be installed double doors.

Sanctuary Dedication Is Jan. 12

Dedication of Upland's new First Presbyterian church and uled for Jan. 12, the Rev. educational building is sched- Trusten A. Hart, minister, announced yesterday as he reviewed the construction project now nearing completion on the west side of Euclid Ave., midway between 11th St. and Foothill Blvd.

Already one of the most striking church exteriors in Southern California, from any viewpoint, the contemporary edifice of frame construction over mighty arches of laminated wood, is embellished with canyon rock veneer and windows of contemporary design.

Interior furnishings for the sanctuary have been arriving this week and are being installed on receipt. Concrete workers are completing the walks, steps and the asphalt paving of drives, parking lots and the easterly half of Laurel Ave., north from 11th St. to the north property line of the church.

The educational wing is virtually ready for occupancy, awaiting only completion of the sanctuary. The heavy rains early this week slowed the progress somewhat, damaging the newly planted lawn in the educational quadrangal, but the construction and clean-up work are expected to be completed for the Jan. 12 dedication.

Architect Plans

Rear Entrance "Fronts" For Upland Stores

Tentative suggestions on how rear entrances to the downtown store buildings may be modernized will be given in a sketch from the office of Pierre Woodman, architect, who will soon be occupying an office in a new Upland building.

With establishment of the off-street parking lots, rear entrances will be unusually important to the stores fronting on Second Ave. between Ninth and C Sts. To that end, Mr. Woodman has been asked to prepare a uniform architectural plan that, if followed, would result in the buildings being modernized. With customers using the new parking lots, the rear entrances will provide easy access to all the local stores.

Mr. Woodman's sketch will be presented at a meeting of merchants and landlords at an early date. Actual remodeling of some of alley-fronts of the buildings is scheduled to be started early next year. Legal processes are being observed in achieving the off-street parking lots. Forecasts indicate the parking lots will be ready for use sometime during 1958.

Thrall Presides In City Council Session Tonight

Mayor Pro-Tem Robt. Thrall will preside in the absence of Mayor Donald C. Carr when Upland city council meets in regular session at 7:30 tonight in the city hall.

At that time the city will receive bids on a wood-frame office and storage building at the city maintenance yards to replace one destroyed in the September fire.

Other general business is on the agenda and the hearing on the proposed zoning ordinance and map may be continued during the meeting.

City Attorney Henry Busch is expected to report on possible city action regarding the court decision favoring Mike Kelber, developer and Ontario city councilman, regarding funds paid into the storm drain, parks and school site funds of the city.

Chuck Lawrence arrived home from Desert Sun school to spend Christmas with his mother, Mrs. C. R. Lawrence, N. Euclid Ave.

Civic Center Group Preparing Report

Having concluded that the city should expand its present civic center rather than re-locate city facilities, the Capitol Improvements Civic Center committee is preparing its report to the city council. From left, the committee men are: Seated, Allan S. Barr, Harvey Siegrist, Robt. S. Gray & Donald A. Gannon; Standing, Ernest S. Gibson, Geo. Whitney, Robt. Thrall and Dwight Bert.

PACK BASKETS FOR FAMILIES

Mrs. Harold Wise, chairman of Upland Elementary Child Welfare, who is in charge of packing Christmas baskets for needy families with children attending that school, said that she anticipates about 40 baskets will be needed.

Baskets for Sierra Vista school, where Mrs. Robt. Sherwood is child welfare chairman, will also be packed in the Upland Elementary cafeteria. The small number of baskets required for Baldy View PTA will be packed at that school.

All baskets will contain an adequate supply, according to Mrs. Wise, who states she has had a generous response from merchants, and individuals. She said full acknowledgement of contributions will be released for publication in The Upland News at a later date.

Mrs. Wise also acknowledged the generous co-operation of other PTA members and chairmen. Other groups will assist with packing and distribution of the baskets, she said.

Names of all families are being cleared through the Red Cross office by Mrs. Eleanor Taylor, executive secretary.

ADULT SCOUTERS IN FIRST MEET AT NEW CENTER

Among the first adult Scouters to use the new facilities of the Old Baldy council administration training center at 120 W. San Jose, Claremont, were two combined Serrano and Broken Arrow district groups. Both met there Tuesday evening. Commissioners from both districts under the leadership of Clarence Lankford, Ontario, and Herb Hall, Alta Loma, enjoyed a potluck dinner followed by a business meeting at 7 when their January Cub, Scout, and Explorer Leaders' Roundtables were planned in detail.

All institutional representatives from both districts enjoyed a potluck, but met in a separate room at 7:30 p.m. to launch their 1958 National Safety Good turn project.

Kiwanis Families Have Annual Yule Potluck Party

More than 100 members of Upland Kiwanis families participated in the annual Christmas party and potluck dinner held Monday evening in the library of Upland High school.

Geo. Yetter was chairman for the party and was responsible for Santa Claus' appearance to distribute gifts to both children and adults. A large Christmas tree dominated the scene, and the Nativity scene done by Upland High school art students on the north window wall of the library further enhanced the setting.

Members of the party committee included Floyd Chambers, club social chairman; Harry Thompson and Glen McCrea.

Friends here have learned of the death of Hoy Harter in Phoenix. He had lived in Ontario and is a former owner of the Upland Liquor store. Mrs. Donald E. Bartell, 740 W. "We hope to offer a very unusual service and high quality meat to the people of this community and of the southland," Mr. Kajari said.

Christmas Story Production

"Festival of the Light of the World" Premiere Here Friday

Fulfillment of a dream will be achieved here Friday night when Euclid Community Singers and Chaffey college Art department present an original Christmas program of considerable magnitude, "Festival of the Light of the World" at 8 p.m. in Gardiner W. Spring auditorium.

Cordelia Story Hutchison, director of the singers, and Douglas McClellan, chairman of the Creative Arts dept. and head of the Art dept. of Chaffey college, direct the unique production.

A year ago Mrs. Hutchison experienced a vivid dream showing a great Light to the World as the Christmas story unfolded before her. With nine years as director of Euclid Community Singers having established her reputation locally as a high calibre musician, she set out to produce her magnificent dream.

Four Trumpets Sound

A call of four trumpets Friday night will signal the start of this Christmas story told in music, drama and artistic effect, which promises to provide this area with a production as unique and vital as Redlands' "Festival of Lights" combined with Laguna Beach "Art Festival".

A number of living tableaux will be an innovation to the program, framed in a beautiful three-part frame of the Renaissance period. A background for each picture has been designed and painted by Mr. McClellan, an artist of international reputation, assisted by Chaffey art students. The tableaux pictures will be similar to those in the annual Art Festival at Laguna Beach.

Euclid Singers, Soloists

The music is sung by the Euclid Community Singers, with 11 solo selections included. Vocal soloists include Tenor Francis Wilson of Upland, who sings the part of the lonely shepherd with flute accompaniment by Harve Edwards; baritone Donald Bowers of Upland, who sings the distress of the people when darkness covered the earth before the Prophecy. Wise men in the tableaux are all Masons who have filled this part in their fraternal order: Chas. Deverts, Everett Wood and Jas. Galanis. A group of instrumental students will play a medley of Christmas carols.

The program is in five parts with singing, narration and tableaux appropriate for each part. It begins with the Prophecy, the Annunciation, Fulfillment, Adoration and the finale, "Joy to the Light of the World". The music tells that not only was Christ born, but that He lives today in the hearts of men.

Traffic Mishap Ends In Death

Miss Georgia Lee Curteman, 20, of 510 E. Arrow Hwy., died on arrival at the Covina hospital on the morning of Dec. 15, following a crash of her car, in Azusa. She suffered skull and other injuries, which caused her death.

Born in Los Angeles she had lived in Upland since infancy and attended Upland schools and Chaffey. She was employed in Monrovia as a dance instructor in Arthur Murray studios.

She is survived by her parents, Claude H. Curteman, Benson Ave. and 20th St. and her mother, Mrs. Thelma Curteman, 510 E. Arrow Hwy.; three sisters, Mrs. Phyllis Parsons, San Jose; Mrs. Janice Sohrweid, San Dimas and Miss Claudia Curteman of Upland, and her grandmother, Mrs. Geo. Culger of Alhambra.

The funeral will be held today, 2 p.m., in Stone Funeral Home, with the Rev. Philip C. Peace of First Methodist church officiating. Interment will be in Bellevue cemetery.

BUS SERVICE TO CUCAMONGA DISCUSSED

Possibility of providing bus service to Cucamonga from Upland and Ontario was discussed at an informal meeting in the Cucamonga school house Tuesday night. Owen E. Davis represented the Upland chamber of commerce.

A guarantee of enough patrons to justify the bus service is one proposal to be met and this figure was set at $40 a day. Franchise restrictions were also discussed.

Chas. Smith, secretary of the Cucamonga chamber of commerce, expressed doubt about success of the proposal.

Deaths Still Mystery

state treasury officer to open the safety deposit box, it was completely empty. Further investigation revealed that a bank account, recently opened by the dead woman, had never contained more than $20. All but $1. of that sum had been withdrawn.

Divorce Proposed

At the time of the dual deaths, Deputy Coroner Coger had questioned Mrs. Schubert about a possible divorce of the couple. The sister of the dead man knew nothing of this.

Actually when she received papers after the investigation was closed, she discovered this was the case.

The Hollidays, apparently deeply in love before and after marriage, wrote each other endearing notes. The wife, if not the husband, continued this practice in the dark days before their deaths.

One month after their marriage her note described it as "the best month of my life" and continued, "Tho we have to struggle and strife. I'll always want to be your wife Love and kisses, Margaret. What Do you say?"

"My Other Interests"

Within two weeks Dick Holliday had turned over $1200 to his wife, as one of her notes, with no endearing phrases, shows. One week later on Nov. 8, her note, also without endearment, states that he had asked her to divorce him.

"I will need this money you gave me to protect myself and my other interests," it ended and though in her writing, was unsigned.

What may have been the final note, reproduced with this story, appears to be a demand for additional money, $800 if he got the divorce but $500 extra, making $2500, in all, if she was to get it.

No word of this disagreement was disclosed to family or friends. Holliday, who had been close to his sister all his life, gave her no hint.

$23 Found In Home

Search of the home has disclosed that no money was hidden there except about $23, including the cash on hand of both the Hollidays.

Three days before the fatal event, Mrs. Holliday had visited the safety deposit box, records at the bank where it was held, show. She still retained the box, however.

It was also found that after her marriage she obtained an Upland post office box in the name she was using when she married Dick Holliday.

Secreted in the fingers of one of her gloves, members of the Holliday family found two keys.

Jewelry Not Found

Mrs. Holliday's effects, turned over to Mrs. Schubert as administratrix, include trivial costume jewelry of no value and a sterling silver wedding band, which was not the gold band given her by Dick Holliday. She dressed expensively and once casually remarked that her fur coat had cost $5,000. Her dresses and other clothing are described as being plentiful and expensive.

She has become in death a woman of mystery who poured out her secret thoughts in a voluminous diary still in the possession of the authorities.

But these secret thoughts do not explain why she had used a number of aliases in bank accounts, nor what her plans as to her future were.

Neighborhood Talk

Contents of this article are freely talked about in the neighborhood where the couple lived.

When the secret hiding place of Dick Holliday's $1200 is found will it also uncover another story of the mystery woman's activities or disclose what she meant when she wrote vaguely of her "other interests."

Two keys, held by Mrs. Schubert, may end the mystery but where is the lock that they will fit?

Motorist's Prayer For Mayor Carr

Mayor Donald Carr has suggested a prayer for all local motorists to express and to observe at this Christmas season.

It is being published here and additional copies are being made for distribution by members of the Upland Police department to many local motorists.

The prayer follows:

"Motorist's Prayer"

"Our Heavenly Father, we ask this day a particular blessing as we take the wheel of our car. Grant us, safe passage through all the perils of travel; shelter those who accompany us and protect us from harm by thy mercy; steady our hands and quicken our eye, Oh Lord, that we may never take another's life or injure his body; guide us to our destination safely, confident in the knowledge that Thou are with us through darkness and light. In Christ's name, we pray. Amen."

Mr. and Mrs. Gerry Brytos, 8124 San Bernardino Rd., Cucamonga, have as their houseguest over the Christmas holidays, Mrs. Brytos' sister, Mrs. Berney Salasin of Brigantine, N. J. The visitor arrived Saturday, Dec. 14, for a two-week visit. Mrs. Brytos is secretary to City Manager Elwin Alder in the city hall.

Break Ground Jan. 5 For Village Chapel

More than $16,000 has been pledged by San Antonio canyon residents t o w a r d construction of the proposed new Mt. Baldy Village church, with the campaign for funds in the canyon area to close this week end.

"We are doing wonderfully well," reported Jas. Paulin of the church board yesterday. "The response from canyon residents has been exceptionally fine." The pledges are to be paid over a three-year period, Mr. Paulin said.

With the f u n d solicitation progressing so well, the date for a groundbreaking ceremony on the site for the new chapel has been set for Sunday, Jan. 5.

The church building committee is meeting nightly and is preparing letters for mailing to 750 southern California residents, who are interested in Mt. Baldy, soliciting their support for the new church construction.

Storm Brings Five Inches Rain; Season Total Now 10.24 Inches

Almost five inches of rain have fallen in Upland within the last week, as of Wednesday morning, and the season rainfall total already exceeds 10 inches, according to the precipitation measurements of Liberty Groves Operation Corp., on E. 19th St.

The storm of this week, Saturday night through Tuesday, showered Upland with 4.72 inches of rain, as recorded by the 19th St. instruments. This brings the season total (since July 1) to 10.24 inches.

A year ago, the 1956-57 season total was only 1.43, but by the season's end June 30, the total was 15.06. With any normal rainfall between now and summer, the previous season total is certain to be exceeded.

Tuesday morning, Frank Stanson of 985 W. 23rd St., reported that a rain gauge at his home had registered six inches of rainfall since the storm began Saturday night. The gauge is one given to Boy Scout Troop 8 by Cucamonga-Mesa Growers, and both Tony and Sammy Stanson are working on weather merit badges. This compared with the official measurement at the San Antonio canyon ranger station of 5.16 inches.

Residents of San Antonio Heights reported rain when Upland proper was not being showered, and it appears the Heights and Canyon experienced heavier rains.

CHRISTMAS EVE 1892

It is late afternoon of the day before Christmas in the year 1892. A group of friends has gathered in a pleasant home festive now with evergreens and candles. Hands are clasped and a pledge is exchanged . . . but not just to good fellowship and the coming holiday. These men—all business leaders —have come together to organize a new financial institution, an association to provide the residents of the area with a safe place for their savings, a sound source of funds with which to build homes in the young and vigorously growing community. It is a memorable Christmas Eve!

Under the name of Mutual Building and Loan Association of Pomona, and with C. I. Lorbeer as its first secretary, the new organization began business in a one-room office at the corner of Second and Thomas. By the end of ten years it required larger quarters and moved across the street to a location it still maintains. In 1938 the Association was granted a Federal charter and changed its name to the present one of Pomona First Federal Savings and Loan Association. And its expansion continued.

Throughout the sixty-five years of its existence, the Association has promoted thrift and home ownership. It has rewarded provident persons by giving them high returns on their savings; it has enabled responsible families to own their own homes on terms they can afford. And it has attempted in every way possible to be an institution of integrity, efficiency and friendliness.

The response of the community to this type of service has been such that the Association, from one man in one room, has grown to a total staff of 65 in three convenient locations—two of them completed since 1955. From an initial capitalization of $5,000.00, Pomona First Federal now records assets of over $66,000,000.00. And starting with its first home loan of $500 (on a house still happily being lived in), the Association has made thousands of home loans to help residents of the area achieve home ownership.

At this Christmas season we of Pomona First Federal Savings feel it fitting spiritually to rejoin our founders of 65 years ago, symbolically to clasp hands in the pledge of the past and a salute to the future . . . as we thank all those whose confidence and loyalty have contributed to our success . . . and re-dedicate ourselves to the sound principles and ideals of service on which our Association was built.

Hostesses Welcome Guests On Woman's Club Home Tour

Christmas Tour Draws 300 Viewers To Homes

About three hundred viewers visited the five homes opened for the Upland Woman's club Tour of Homes, Friday, when do-it-yourself decorations were the great attraction.

At the Dennis Clifton home, "Santa Claus is Coming to Town," was the theme. Harry Strobben, as Santa Claus, greeted visitors. Mrs. Clifton, who is a ceramic hobbyist, had used clever and original Christmas ceramics to decorate the entire house. Center of attraction in the living room was a Santa Claus workshop of miniature figures. Crystal candelabra with tall red tapers flanked this lovely scene.

Hostess was Mrs. J. Frank Moore.

The Alexander McLeish home in Ontario took the theme, "Auld Lang Syne."

A wreath on the door was in the form of a clock with a pendulum. Hands of the clock said 25 minutes to 12. This was made by Mrs. Ralph Almstead.

The fireplace mantle held a tall brass candelabra which was wound with serpentine streamers and scattered with confetti. Also on the mantle was Mrs. McLeish's interesting antique collection of small figures and vessels. Huge candles backed with bouquets were placed on antique china platters.

Centerpiece of the buffet setting on the dining table was a most original "clock" created by using crystal goblets to mark the hours. Two antique silver spoons placed in a cut crystal dish marked the time as five minutes to 12.

As a background Mrs. McLeish had dried lily of the valley and onion blossoms sprayed with silver with tiny red and silver balls added. This arrangement was on a high standard of cut glass bowls. The buffet displayed additional antiques of china, glass and silver.

Mrs. Ralph Almquist and Mrs. Irvin Gieser were hostesses with Mrs. McLeish.

A French walking and talking doll, owned by Mrs. McLeish since childhood was in the master bedroom. The breakfast room held an arrangement of antique blue stoneware centered with a bouquet of vari-colored carnations.

The Walter Withrow home on N. Second Ave. featured a candy wreath on the front door, made by the hostess. A handy pair of scissors made it possible for guests to clip candies from the wreath.

The mantle held six round candles in graduated sizes on one corner. A gold and silver mobile of baubles was suspended above. A pink and silver mobile was placed in the bedroom. The mobiles were made by Mrs. Withrow.

Miss Sandy Withrow's collection of dolls and other toys were displayed in her bedroom.

Hostesses were Mrs. A. L. Palmer, and Mrs. Arthur Asper.

"Holiday House," was the intriguing theme at the Richard Barr home. An original rosette pine cone wreath had a place of honor on the front door.

Tall pastel green candles were placed on a serving counter in the family room, arranged with an over-size gablet containing ornaments amidst pastel green angel hair. A lighted Christmas tree stood in a picture window.

A huge manzanita branch, in the living room was sprayed gold, decked with gilded and glittered balls and tied with many colored bows. A planter dividing the entrance hall and living room was also embellished with holiday ornaments, and the entry hall mirror reflected a driftwood and bauble table arrangement.

A twisted beeswax candle and a white ceramic jar of oriental design flanked a lovely Madonna and Child figurine in the master bedroom. Santa Claus greeted visitors to a lower-level bedroom, and the bathrooms were not overlooked in the decorations, with oriental decorator items used in a yule arrangement on one dressing table.

Hostesses were Mrs. G.R. Harger and Mrs. Irvin Hartley.

At the Joseph Visnak home on Harford Pl. huge gingerbread cut-outs on the lawn carried out the decoration theme. Gingerbread boys and girls decorated the greenery around the front door lintel.

A star-burst of cattails and gold spears with golden balls was hung on the brick fireplace facing a large Christmas tree lighted and done in silver and red balls stood in a corner. A forest scene of feathery sprayed foliage on the piano was dominated by a Madonna and tiny deer.

The tea table in the dining room, where guests stopped for refreshments, was centered with a Christmas tree. Mrs. Evelyn Dawson presided. Mrs. Harold McCreight was hostess and during the afternoon Mrs. Joel Baugh played Christmas carols at the piano.

Howard Weeks in apron and chefs hat baked cookies during the afternoon.

All the hostesses wore corsages of holly and miniature candy canes tied with silver bows.

Santa Claus made the rounds of all the homes, starting at the Clifton home.

Programs for the event were through the courtesy of Upland Bank of America and Upland Savings and Loan Co.

Committees and workers arranging the tour were, Mrs. Howard Weeks, general chairman; Mrs. John MacFarlane, chairman, and Mrs. Robt. H. Crawford, co-chairman; Mmes. R. H. Schulze, W. A. Smith and Lawrence Parker, tickets;

Mrs. Randall Eastlack, chairman, and Mrs. W. H. Dalton, cookies; Mrs. C. P. Jacobs Sr., programs chairman; Mrs. Harold McCreight hostess chairman.

Mrs. O. B. Thomson, chairman, Mmes. David Corlett, Jack Dorrity, Wm. Amberson and Arthur Lichti, posters; Mrs. Henry Dybsand, publicity; Mrs. J. C. Baird, transportation.

Women Golfers Have Luncheon; Win In Tourney

Mrs. C. C. Denio is hostess for the annual Christmas party of Red Hill Country club women golfers being held today, with a noon luncheon following the regular ladies' day golfing. Special prizes will be awarded the top golfers.

With 10 Red Hill women playing in the recent South Hills Country club Women Golfers' invitational tournament, six of the local club's representatives won prizes. Mrs. Al Forman won first low net in Class B and Mrs. Mitchell Thompson won the putting tournament.

Scribes Hold Yule Party

Kaiser Steel Adds To Upland Chest

Warner Howell, member of Upland Community chest budget committee, receives Kaiser Steel's company contribution through A. I. D. to Upland Community chest from Kaiser assistant public relations director, Al Lynch, also an Uplander.

$536 Kaiser Co. Check For Upland Chest

A contribution of $536.47 has been received by Upland Community chest from Kaiser Steel as that company's contribution to the Upland Chest. Yet to come from Kaiser is the annual employee AID member contribution.

The check was presented to Warner Howell, a member of the Kaiser staff and member of the Chest's budget committee, by T. A. "Al" Lynch of Upland, assistant director of public relations for Kaiser Steel.

In making the presentation, Mr. Lynch said: "It is with the sense of sharing a community obligation and of course pleasure that Kaiser Steel makes its company contribution to the Community Chest for Upland."

The amount of the Kaiser contribution is determined by the percentage of Kaiser employes residing in Upland.

Other contribution checks from Kaiser Steel are going to the Community Chests of Alta Loma-Cucamonga, $191.62, and Etiwanda Service club, $56.27.

A total of $18,416.03 is being contributed by Kaiser Steel to area Chests, representing more than half the $30,000 the steel firm contributes to charitable, health and welfare causes each year in towns of principal employee residence.

Postal Rate Change, Aim Of Newspapers

The Upland News has subscribed to the movement of other California newspapers in seeking a readjustment of United States post office rates.

"The United States post office department should charge various classes of mail the actual costs of handling and take steps to assure proper and efficient handling of all mail".

This recommendation has been made by the California Newspaper Publishers Assn. by action of its board of directors in reaffirming a previous stand that all media and classes of mail should pay their own way, whether it be first, second, third or any other class of mail or service the Post Office Dept. may render the public.

In a formal resolution, the CNPA also declared that no one class of mail should pay more than its individual cost of handling. It was recommended that an appraisal of all classes and groups or types of mail within a given class be made to determine whether or not certain ones are paying more than actual costs.

The Post Office Dept. should then make necessary adjustments and put into effect remedial measures to assure proper and efficient handling of all mail with proper charges, the CNPA urged.

Copies of the resolution were ordered mailed to California congressmen and senators and to Postmaster General Summerfield.

Capt. Robert Babbe Engaged In Scientific AF Program

USAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Babbe of 330 S. Euclid Ave., Upland, and husband of the former Miss Nancy Billings of Riva, Maryland, is taking part in the Air Force program of mating nuclear and thermonuclear weapons with delivery systems at Kirtland AFB, New Mexico.

The Air Force Special Weapons center at Kirtland (part of Air Research and Development command) conducts research, development and testing to provide nuclear-carrying bombers, fighters, rockets and missiles.

An aeronautical engineer, Capt. Babbe is a project officer in the ballistic missiles branch with the Development directorate of the Air Force Special Weapons center. His branch is responsible for providing support to the Air Force Ballistic Missiles division in development of warhead adaption kits. From 1955-57, Capt. Babbe underwent graduate studies at the University of Michigan, leading to an M. S. E. degree in aeronautics and instrumentation. He and Mrs. Babbe have four children, Bobby, 6, Leslie, 3, Barbara, 2, and Robin, three months.

Mrs. Ayers' Hand-Hooked Rug In Exhibit

Mrs. Frances Ayers, native Uplander and for 10 years a Chaffey Adult Education program instructor in hand-hooked rug making, is shown with the lovely 9x11 rectangular rug she recently completed, following her original Della Robbia design in fruit and flowers. The rug is included in an arts and crafts show of Chaffey Community Art Assn. currently showing in Ontario. —Upland News Staff Photo

Original Della Robbia Design Is Unique

One of the outstanding exhibits of the current Arts and Crafts show of Chaffey Community Art Assn. is 9x11 feet hand-hooked rug made by Mrs. Chas. W. (Frances) Ayers of Upland. Of an original Della Robbia design by Mrs. Ayers, the rug features the traditional yuletide motif of fruit and flowers.

The exhibit is on display through December at the E St. branch of Ontario First National bank, E St. and Euclid Ave., and may be viewed daily, Monday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. and on Friday evenings, 6 to 8 p.m.

Other features of the show, which follows a Christmas theme, are ceramics, mosaics, a piece of needlepoint and a wall hanging.

Mrs. Ayers, a native Uplander and the former Frances Dewey, has studied for seven years under the Chaffey art instructors, Froeda Dann, Roger Kuntz and Douglas McClellan. She has taught classes in hand-hooking rugs for the past 10 years under the Chaffey Adult Education program, and now has two such Chaffey classes, plus one class each for the Pomona and Chino school systems.

Explaining the procedure for making hand-hooked rugs, Mrs. Ayers states that the design or pattern is first drawn on burlap, the new, all-wool materials are hand-dyed and cut in strips about 3/16 of an inch wide. These strips are pulled through the burlap, stretched on a frame, with a small hook, with the various colors used in forming the design.

PTA Plans Year-Round Needy Aid

Upland Junior High PTA is co-operating with all the elementary schools in the city in the maintenance of the PTA clothes closet in the old Eighteenth St. school, according to Mrs. Joe Benish, welfare chairman.

The junior high PTA welfare chairman and other welfare chairmen have had two recent meetings at the clothes closet when it was decided to maintain a food closet in the same location, rather than to have supplies at each school, as was the former practice.

Supplies will be made available to Miss Janet Johnson, school nurse, to use at any time throughout the year, it was disclosed.

Mrs. James Mertz, Junior High PTA president, said that organization will not pack baskets, as all needy families having children in the Junior High also have children in elementary schools which are packing baskets.

Mrs. Mertz said the junior high group will contribute funds to the basket project and will also contribute workers as needed.

Red Cross Sets Training Here For Disaster

Home care of the sick and injured is one of the services stressed by the American Red Cross for preparedness in case of a disaster situation. Upland Chapter has been conducting classes to train instructors to teach these techniques to homemakers and teachers, under the efficient supervision of Mrs. Dorothy Towne, sent for this purpose from the San Francisco, area.

A group of five under the instruction of Mrs. D. L. Thorne, R. N., chairman of the Upland Chapter Nursing Committee, recently completed seven lessons of two hours each.

Those completing the course were Mrs. Marjorie Grenier, Upland; Mrs. Carolyn Brewster, Ontario; Mrs. Frances Robertson, Cucamonga; and Mrs. Donna Marsh and Mrs. Margaret Naftel of Mt. Baldy.

Teachers and nurses who have taken the course, given by Mrs. Towne, will in turn instruct high school girls and other groups. Special stress has been placed on requirements arising in case of a major calamity.

In this group were Mrs. Dorothy Schmidt, R.N., Alta Loma; Mrs. Helen Gish, Home Economics teacher, Upland college; Mrs. Bernice Moore, R. N., school nurse Upland High school; Mrs. Wilma Klepper and Mrs. Rachel Temple, homemaking teachers, Upland High school and Mrs. Edna Halvorsen, R.N.

New classes will be organized after Jan. 1, it was announced.

In addition to instructing, Mrs. Towne has been listing nurses for disaster service, in the knowledge that there are many inactive registered nurses in this area whose services would be required in an emergency.

PTA YULE PARTY AT VERDE MONTE

District five PTA is planning a series of Christmas parties in county institutions for young people, including one at Verde Monte ranch for boys Friday.

Going from Upland as members of the committee are Mrs. Rick Byrket, director of welfare for district five, and Mrs. Velda Sauer. They will be accompanied by Mrs. Sauer's son Warren and the Byrkets' daughter, Gay.

A highlight of the program will be the TV-award winning pantomime team comprised of Roger DeLozier, Denny Calhoun and Ben Mackall, whose repertory includes pantomiming the record, "Flying Saucers."

Arthur Perez will be present and Myrna Islas, Vicki Islas, Rosa Duran and Yolanda Quesada, in costume, will present Spanish dances.

Group participation games will be played and refreshments served. A sizeable gift for the institution will be presented. This party and one at the new county school for girls in Redlands, Las Amigas, and the Juvenile Home are made possible through the PTA sale of Orange Show tickets, earlier in the year, Mrs. Byrket reported.

Mrs. Wm. Zeman, district juvenile protection officer, is heading the committee in charge of all three events.

Yesterday Today and Tomorrow

By Gerry McGeer

Well, as usual, Christmas finds yours truly all unprepared for the big event. I go into the homes of friends and realize with dismay that their trees are up, their decorations all in place, the mail mailed and their parcels wrapped.

Ah me! Actually, being one of the keepers of a sort of traditional Christmas it seems a bit early to put up the tree when it won't come down, in my house, until Twelfth Night when a bit of it, lacking a fireplace, will be ceremoniously burned in an ash tray.

In the home of my childhood there was an annual battle about this. One older sister wanted the tree and all relics of Christmas out of the way come what we called "Boxing Day." She never won the battle as she was one against many, younger more vociferous voices.

With the years the Christmas tree loses much of its sparkle. Even putting it up at the earliest a couple of days before Christmas leaves it a little time worn come Jan. 6.

Because Christmas time is the only time of the year, shame on me, that I hear from many dear friends, I've made a compact with myself to get those cards away and that is a shuddering task because I've forgotten, as I usually do where I put my last year's cards and addresses. This habit of saving the cards until the next year is the easiest way I have found to really get into the spirit of the season. When I've posted the last of them some of the nostalgia that brings on the pre-Christmas sadness will be changed to a happier expectancy of the news and messages from old friends far away, and I will be able to get into the swing of making it a Merry Christmas.

To those who don't know, "Boxing Day," is the day after Christmas. An old English custom that is deeply revered in my native Canada and for the very good reason that it means there are for most people two holidays at that time.

Boxing Day, however, a very ancient observance, actually takes its name from the days when every man had his lord. After the lord and his family had dined well on Christmas the remainder of the feast, or such as was thought sufficient, was boxed up and taken to the retainers in their cottages, and the widows, orphans and beggars without the castle walls.

Of course, while there has been a leveling of the classes since those days, as far as Boxing Day is concerned there is no resentment by the masses of a day that symbolized their penury. There would probably be a civil war if it were suggested that it be abolished.

The modern custom of giving baskets before Christmas is certainly an improvement and to bring this column up to date I want to salute with kind thoughts and good wishes for success, the efforts of the Upland Elementary PTA's in taking over the task of supplying Christmas baskets for Upland's needy families. There are indications that this will be a less happy Christmas for more people than usually need such help.

If you wish to donate a basket, or a part of one for some needy family, the school in your district will put you in touch with the PTA welfare chairman, or you may phone your offer to the Upland Red Cross office where Mrs. Eleanor Taylor, who is also the secretary of the Upland Community Welfare committee, is ing names of those who will receive baskets.

Upland Feed Hosts Staff

Employes of Upland Feed and Fuel and their wives were entertained at a pre-Christmas turkey dinner in the Upland Woman's clubhouse, Friday, when Willard Stump acted as master of ceremonies.

The affair was attended by 70 persons. On behalf of employes, Bill Eirsman presented gifts to owners, Dwight Bert and Oren Decker. Mr. Decker received a set of binoculars and Mr. Bert's gift was a wrist watch.

Following a gift exchange from under the Christmas tree, Kenny Carter led the group in the singing of carols and a quartet comprised of Eldon Bert, Marvin Decker, Willard Stump and Kenny Carter entertained with a varied selection of carols.

Oren Decker showed color slides of a recent trip he made with Mrs. Decker through the Canadian Rockies.

Hot Lunches Sought For Baldy View

At a recent Baldy View PTA board meeting, the sponsorship policies of the PTA were explained to the various youth groups by Mrs. Chester Haug president. Mimeographed copies of these policies will be mailed to each of the groups stating how the PTA can help these groups in their fund raising projects.

A motion was made that the PTA write a letter to the board of trustees of the Upland School district concerning the lack of an adequate eating facility for the Baldy View children. An enlarged and enclosed eating area combined with a hot lunch program is being sought by the group.

Mrs. Lloyd Smith, welfare chairman, gave a report on the canned food drive, part of which will be used in Christmas baskets and the rest for the schools' needy during the year.

Two new chairmen were ratified by the board. They are Mrs. A. W. Stremmel, health chairman and Mrs. Robert Joines, civil defense chairman.

Santa Claus will visit the school Friday afternoon to distribute candy canes among the children as has been his custom for several years.

PARTY FOR PAM

Pamela Roelen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Roelen, 772 N. Quince Ave., was feted recently, by her parents, on the occasion of her 13th birthday anniversary.

Eleven of Judy's girl classmates were guests at the Roelen home when they enjoyed games, a taffy pull and party refreshments, including a birthday cake.

The northernmost boundary between the U. S. and Canada is the 49th parallel.

Forest officers today advised that the cutting or removal of Christmas trees from National Forest lands within the San Bernardino National Forest is prohibited by law.

WARM SUNSHINE TODAY BUT SNOWBOUND WE WERE JUST A YEAR AGO

Brilliant sunshine and weather warm enough to make us shed sport jacket by 9 a.m. and wish we could toss off the shirt, too, on Monday and Tuesday of last week, caused us to reflect on our situation on the same dates one year ago.

Discharged from active duty with the army on Dec. 7, better remembered here as Liberation day, we set forth from Aberdeen, Md., on Dec. 8. After a cold spell of several weeks, which included some snow, the western shores of Chesapeake bay were basking in bright sunshine when we departed, with car and trailer packed from top to bottom like a prune picker heading home in time of trouble.

All was lovely until, 50 miles away, we crossed the state line and entered Pennsylvania. (Now, to allow Pennsylvanians to lower their shooting arms, we'll state that if we were ever impressed by any state east of Arizona, it was Pennsylvania.) As we passed that sign reading "welcome to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania," along with a polite but deadly notation to watch our speed, we went into a light rainfall. This was the before-curtain act of what Pennsylvania really had in store for us. Soon the rain was steady, then a downpour. But regardless of its intensity, the rain continued to fall. By evening, we had traveled on that wonderful Pennsylvania turnpike into Western Pa., and the rain was turning to sleet.

Along with a wife exhausted from days of packing and a fidgeting two-year-old in the front seat, we were further endowed with a panicked but persevering mother-in-law and a month-old baby in the back seat, midst all the diapers and other accoutrements. But all had held up well and we decided to push this lucky streak no farther and stop for the night, before we had reached our favorite motel.

So off the turnpike and into an adjacent motel we sped—as well as one can speed pulling a trailer loaded with the 18-month treasures of two of the world's most accomplished junk collectors.

After a comfortable night's lodging, we were up with the chickens and eager for the long one-day drive to the wife's parental home in Illinois. As we reloaded the groaning car with passengers, luggage, diapers and traveling conveniences, a light snow began to fall, and in 15 minutes the snowflakes were as large as we've ever seen.

But who worries about a little snow, so we merrily returned to the turnpike and what was to be one of the most perilous mornings of our life. And we might add that we are especially thankful to be telling this story a year later.

Within a short time, the beautifully falling snow had become a raging snowstorm, and no pioneer family ever felt more isolated than we did on the turnpike with no place to go but straight ahead. The well-kept toll road was soon a treacherous sheet of ice and snow, and our heavily loaded trailer was no asset to our effort to forge ahead.

Everyone was traveling at a snail's pace, with the exception of those frightening semi-trailers which loomed behind us all too frequently as a menace to our lives. As they passed us, with trailers swinging from side to side, and our little (by comparison) two wheeler also often swinging in a like fashion, the near collisions became all too frequent.

We almost mustered a smile as a huge sedan of ancient vintage passed us at quite a rate of speed, then quickly lowered its speed and finally halted at the end of a mile-long line of vehicles stopped for those semis which could not top a hill ahead.

Well, with that trailer and riding on ice, we could not stop as quickly as that old horseless carriage could, and to use our brakes would have sent us sliding across the ice and into the lanes of oncoming traffic or to the right and over an embankment. So we just coasted on and bumped the old vehicle from behind, with no ill effects.

By now both wife and mother-in-law were in full rehearsal for "Snake Pit."

Soon the traffic moved forward again, and three hours later, after traveling a total of 30 miles, we reached the Highlander Coeds Volunteer Workers At Santa Claus, Inc.

Upland High school students have been among the many volunteers repairing toys and doing other tasks for Santa Claus, Inc. This group of Upland High school girls spent a busy Saturday morning repainting playtime furniture to make it a Merry Christmas for many area families. In the background can be seen the stockpile of used toys yet to be repaired and painted. Many of these toys, however, can be used only to provide parts for other toys being repaired. From left, the workers are Linda MacLaren, Kathleen Gassel, Ruth Wealand, Kathleen Rudesill, Pat Wachel and Rosa Duran. The latter three represented Cynthinians Tri-Hi-Y and the others were working as individual volunteers.

Cagers Enter Win Column 61-46 Friday

After a five-loss opening streak, the Upland High school varsity cagers hit their stride Friday night at Santa Barbara, winning by a 61-46 count in the high scoring contest. Dave Grace led the Highlanders at the hoop, garnering 23 counters. Grace made good 13 of 15 free throw attempts and scored five times. Jim Burton, playing his best game in two years, was second high scorer with eight points and showed real promise of being a season standout.

Team-wise, the Highlanders made 35% of their field goal shots, 15 of 58 tries. On free shots, the team tried a total of 37 and was successful on 29—80 per cent.

Coach Jerry Kehr saw his round ball aggregation in its first complete team effort at San Barbara, showing considerable hustling ability. Several dependable players are still tight from football season but are beginning to loosen up. With team unity and spirit realized, the cagers are optimistically counting for a win over Pomona Catholic High school Monday, Dec. 23, 8 p.m. in the Upland High school gymnasium.

Paul Pace was one of the Highlanders shining Friday night, showing fine form and spirited hustle and scoring five points. Pace is showing steady improvement.

Cynthinians Sack Candy For Santa, Inc.

Sacking 500 pounds of Christmas candy for distribution by Santa Claus, Inc., to area families in unfortunate circumstances, was the big task of this volunteer working group of Upland High school girls, members of Cynthinians Tri-Hi-Y. From left are Janney Majors, daughter of the Santa, Inc., general chairmen, Mr. and Mrs. Jackson Majors; Bonnie Way, Jan Shackelford, Rebecca Ramirez, Katie Caindec, Marie Ann Patane, club president, and Neisha Paeden.

Ramona Repeats Basketball Win

In a return game here Wednesday night of last week, Ramona High school claimed another edge from the Upland Highlanders, 52-49. Their earlier win in Riverside was by a 40-38 edge.

Jack Vermillion, with 14 points, was high scorer and Dave Grace, with 12, took second scoring laurels. Upland led at the halftime, 27-20, but a second half scoring spree ended in Ramona's favor again.

Coach Jerry Bell played Dave Grace and Art Buchanan, forwards; C. B. Cox, center; Jack Vermillion and Lino Robledo, guard; Don Maxwell, center, and Paul Pace, forward.

Hospital Employes Hear Malpractice Insurance Agent

Employes of San Antonio Community hospital attended the fourth seminar of the year on a recent evening in the Barr solarium of the hospital. Speaker of the evening was Jack Fulton, who has spent the past four years as a malpractice insurance agent for the Farmers Insurance Group of Los Angeles.

Mr. Fulton explained some of the many problems that have arisen over the past 10 years or so concerning malpractice insurance.

Announcement was made of the next seminar to be held in Barr solarium on Jan. 15, 7:30 p.m. and will feature a program built around the latest changes in Blue Cross. The program will be presented by Chas. Abbott, a representative of the Hospital Service of Southern California.

last turnpike turn-off at Beaver Falls. With the aid of a highway crew, we made the grade up and out of the turnpike and reached the nearby Beaver Falls motel, a haven we had visited twice before.

For two days we were snowbound before we could proceed, but if you ever have to be snowbound, we hope you find a place as comfortable and with managers as concerned with your every whim as the managers of our favorite motel. They made our stay as pleasant as possible.

With a phone call to Ohio confirming that the new Ohio turnpike was open all the way to Indiana, we cautiously proceeded on our journey one morning, again in bright sunshine but with snow all about. We traversed Ohio in good time, and then tried out the new Indiana turnpike until we reached Gary, where we left the turnpike to head south and cut across country to avoid the heavy traffic of the Chicago area. All was fine as long as we headed south, but once we turned west, we found the driving winds were causing ice to form in low spots on the roads. With one swinging-trailer truck making a near hit as it passed us, we sought refuge once again at the nearest motel, and spent a third night on the road. The next morning dawned bright and clear again, and we traversed the remaining 75 miles to the parental fireside by noon. All in all, it took four hard days to make a trip which could usually be traveled in two days of easy driving and one overnight stop. We spent four nights, three full days and two half days on the road to do it. And no three adults were ever more grateful on arrival. The relief was almost hysterical. And if you've ever driven in such a storm with two women temporarily unbalanced with fright and concern, plus two innocent children, you might sympathize with yours truly. Anyway, the next time we use the turnpike, it won't be in the dead of winter.

The trip from Illinois to Upland is another story, but suffice it to say we crossed the Colorado before our 1951 auto laid down and died with a tremendous sigh of relief. And who could blame her?

Jayvee Hoopsters In 33-19 Win

Coach Gus Rischer's junior varsity hoopsters also returned triumphant from Santa Barbara on Friday, after taking a 33-19 win over the host jayvees. Jim Davis led the Highlander JV scoring with 13 points and Don Stolz was second high with eight counters.

Also in Friday games with La Puente teams, Upland High's C team took a win and the Upland D quint lost to visiting D team.

Warren Wass Re-Elected By Exchange

Warren H. Wass, 2393 N. Mountain Ave., is today serving his second term as vice president of the Exchange Lemon Products Co., having been re-elected at the recent 43d annual meeting in Corona. Mr. Wass, prominent citrus gorwer here since 1938, has been on the board of the Exchange since 1953.

A member of the board of Upland Lemon Growers Assn. since 1941, Mr. Wass has served this packing house as president since 1943. He also is vice president of Liberty Groves Operating Corp. on W. 19th St., a citrus management-operation organization.

Mr. Wass first came to this area with his family from Western Pennsylvania in 1911, when his father bought a local grove. In the 1922 the grove was sold and the Wass family moved north to Central California. Mr. Wass returned here in 1928 and has been active in the citrus industry since.

Mrs. Wass is the former Marie Podrasnik of that prominent family so active in the early history of this area.

The couple have five sons, three of whom are living in California, one in Michigan and one in the orient.

RICHARD CARR TO SERVE CHP IN S. B. AREA

Richard Carr, former Upland police patrolman, will begin his duties as a California Highway Patrolman on Dec. 24 in the San Bernardino area, having learned this week his area of assignment.

To be graduated as a patrolman on Friday, in Sacramento, after 12 weeks' training at the California Highway Patrol academy, the son of Mayor and Mrs. Carr will return to continue his residence in Upland. Mayor and Mrs. Carr are going to Sacramento today for their son's graduation, and he will return here with them. The Richard Carrs and son reside at 765 Tulare way. Mrs. R. Carr, who recently joined the staff of the Southern Counties Gas Co. offices in Upland, will be unable to attend her husband's graduation.

Heavy Lemon Crop Despite Wind Storm

Lemon picking is progressing well, with the second pick of the season now being made, with a 15 to 20 per cent loss in grade expected due to the November wind storm. The lemon crop for this area was exceptionally nice until the storm, and according to Mel Henderson, manager at Cucamonga-Mesa Growers, is the heaviest in some time.

The third pick is expected to be lighter, with the fourth and fifth picks in the spring depending on the winter weather. If the winter is warm, exceptional lemon picks are anticipated for spring.

"Lightest crop on record since 1918" is Mr. Henderson's report for the navel orange picking, only one-third the normal crop. Valencias are about 40 per cent of last year's crop, the citrus house manager reports, adding that a good set of grapefruit on the trees now is due to the early rains. For the grapefruit picking, Mr. Henderson foresees a 120-car crop for Cucamonga-Mesa growers—about the same as last season.

THIS YOUNGSTER needed a bit of prodding as he approached Santa Claus, during the latter's recent visit to Upland, but once Santa's special warmth and winning way reached the youth, he was all prepared with a report on his behavior and a list for Santa's careful reading. Santa's pre-Christmas visit is sponsored each year by the merchants' division of Upland chamber of commerce.

Miller "Bill" To Y's Model Legislature

A law to require school buses to have a safety belt for the driver, was selected to represent the Ontario-Upland Y.M.C.A. at Model Legislature in Sacramento. This Bill, written by LaTresa Miller, was chosen from the five Bills presented. La Tresa presented the idea after talking to people who work and drive buses. These people felt that this would be a very fine safety feature to be added. It would prevent a driver from falling out of his seat from a bump in the road or a sudden swerve, thus being able to maintain control of the vehicle.

Many hours of work followed in developing her idea into Bill form. Other Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y members presenting Bills were Lietta Gilliland, Nancy Dona, Janice Jong and Judy Ponsor. Subjects for these Bills were: Probation, sub-divisions of parks, compulsory school age and motor vehicles.

These young people, along with several others from our Area, will be going to the Y.M.C.A. model legislature Feb. 13-15.

Judging the Bills were Mrs. Howard Thompson, Bruce Grube, Don Jackson, Herbert Swinney, Grover Clem, Wiley Mather, Cliff Beuttner, and Paul Clarke.

CHILDREN LEAD WAY IN SHARING YULE PROFITS

As a terrific crowd of motorists kept traffic at a minimum speed in San Antonio canyon Sunday, Dec. 8, the children of Mt. Baldy Village were on their toes, selling mistletoe for the holiday season to the canyon visitors.

Two youngsters, Jane and Stewart Caulfield, children of the John D. Caulfields, did a brisk business and at the end of the day counted $5.74, which they immediately divided in half and contributed $2.87 to the building fund of Mt. Baldy Village church.

This incident might well serve to inspire others to show interest in the Village church building fund with similar gestures of generosity. "And a little child shall lead them.."

Mr. and Mrs. Herman R. Stephens and two children are getting acquainted in Upland, coming from Gardena, where they had lived for two years. They formerly resided in East Liverpool, Ohio. Mr. Stephens is employed by Kaiser Steel Co. Mark is 5½ years of age and Collette is 6½ years of age.

Lots of people spend every cent they make.

Maybe you have to be a little cuckoo to save money. How do you know you'll ever want to buy a home, or that you'll ever be sick or out of a job or broke, or that you'll ever want to educate yourself or children, or own your own business, or travel?

You have to have imagination to forsee that money put away may be of more value and give you more fun than money you spend fast while it is fresh.

In the cartoon above I've used the word "nutty." I'm glad. Reminds me of squirrels. Nature has made them "crazy" enough NOT to want to starve in winter.

If you want to store savings away for winters to come, put them in Euclid Savings & Loan at Ontario.

A Lonesome Club Project For Upland During 1958

Our thoughts today are about people within our area who are lonesome.

"There are times when I'd give $100 to have someone to talk to," a white-haired widower remarked to us recently. He has lived here at least 10 years and is now alone in his home. His neighbors, younger in age, are very busy in earning a living and with the interests of their own circle of friends. His long days are spent in the daily chores about the house and yard but he yearns often for the opportunity of conversing with people of his own age.

Another Uplander, here for 25 years, is physically unable to get about in the community. Once in a while he is a passenger in a car of a friend who takes him for a drive. Oftentimes he never leaves his home for weeks.

Suggested here before is the possibility of forming a club for our senior citizens. This club might have many phases.

One phase might be "telephone pals," so that anyone of the senior citizens might be privileged to talk with someone whenever he feels lonely and craves companionship. A meeting place might be designated for those who are able, could meet for conversation and diversion. A "visiting section" might be developed for those who would call on the shut-ins.

Some of the more active senior citizens or retired people might take the lead in forming the club and gradually develop various features. The News eagerly awaits the opportunity to fully publicize such an organization.

There is no question but that much of the unhappiness in the later years stems from the simple fact that older individuals have lost many of their former contacts and now find it difficult to locate the companionship that contributes so much to one's happiness.

Let's do something about this in our community during 1958.

Politicians Change Their Ideas Before, After Sputnik

What some politicians said before Sputnik and what they have said since then is very interesting as well as contradictory.

On May 24, 1957, for example, Democratic Representative Geo. H. Mahon of Texas said: "We even cut missles a bit but nobody is going to suffer greatly because we nicked this program about 75 million dollars."

On Oct. 26, after Sputnik, Mr. Mahon said: "We want to find out and let the American people find out why we are lagging in this field (missles and satellites) in view of the vast funds provided."

Stuart Symington is very vocal. The Democratic Missouri Senator observed before Sputnik that "our military appropriations . . . can end only in national bankruptcy." After Sputnik, the senator asserted: "Certainly our survival is more important than the deficit."

The Democratically controlled house committee on appropriations before Sputnik declared: "It is expected that the reduction in communication and electronic equipment may be applied in moving a little slower on the so-called SAGE and general AC&W (advanced warning) programs . . . Some minor stretch out in this program should result in the long run in a much more effective system."

Said the advisory council on the same subject after Sputnik: "Construction and improvement of advanced warning installations have been either cancelled or slowed down."

Conditions change . . . so do ideas of citizen and politicians.

Long Range Planning Is Best For Community Baskets

Distribution of food and toys to needy families in the community at this season of the year is highly commendable . . . if properly planned.

Many hundreds of local children and their parents are eager in their efforts to provide sufficiently so that during this holiday period no child is without presents and no family is without food. Just who will receive the community's expression is a question apparently more difficult to answer this year than in some former years.

For various reasons, an eleventh-hour plan of coordination is being adopted. Everyone who has had experience with community contributions is well aware of the need of coordination and full cooperation, not only at the holiday season, but at all other times.

Mrs. Harold Wise, welfare chairman of the Upland Elementary Parent-Teacher Assn., is courageously taking on the job of directing the distribution of contributions. Much is yet to be done in seeing to it that all contributors, organizations and individuals — do not over-generously shower some families with baskets — and overlook others.

"It will be different next year," one interested observer said. And it is true that hard-working, interested workers realize that the success of community contributions depends on the certainity of correct distribution.

There is no question about the generosity of contributors — if residents are assured that what they give will be distributed properly. Definite plans for contributions throughout 1958 should be made and fully publicized early next year.

Sharps and Flats

By Chuck Barlow

The first thing drummed into a budding press photographer is the sacred necessity of coming in with the picture. Of course, an exposure that will result in a good quality negative is also necessary to continued pay checks.

The net result to the parties of the second part, those being photographed, is oft times quite painful. And very unflattering. As years roll by the press photographer developes a mechanical defense mechanism.

There is no verbal vitrol comparative to that blue haze created by city editors who have been professionally wounded. Photographers and their works have long been made targets by cynical department heads. Rather than brave the ire, where their pay checks originate, these newspaper photogs concentrate on light, exposure, footage and angle. The net result to the subject is immaterial if time is the essence.

The photog might have to brave the wrath of a subject at times but never daily such as he does with an unhappy superior. His defense naturally is erected to please the boss at the sacrifice of all else.

All this, and more too, have I known for years. Yet, when the chips weren't down, the pressure was off, and only the subject had to be pleased, I flubbed like an amateur.

But part of this flubbing was caused by too many cooks in the soup. Most men would vote me the Medal of Honor for trying to please my wife and mother-in-law in the same operation but neverthe ess, their was part of the project. And these two cooks cooked up a brief spot of grief for the old photog.

Most every family, at sometime, has a go at designing their own Christmas cards. This was the urge that brought about this strain on family tolerance.

Rosie, the mother-in-law, was gadding about in northern California when the inspiration to do home Christmas cards struck. Her return date was uncertain. We proceeded without taking her into consideration. This was the first place I goofed. Never get in usch a hurry that you don't take your mother-in-law into consideration.

Using natural light in the shade, my one and only, Phoebe; 12-year-old son Rich, and I made pics of each other. Because of the soft light they have an appealing quality. The pic of Phoebe was real good because she is hard to photograph. Her face does tricks with light. Sassy, the Cocker, posed but didn't take any pictures.

We congratulated ourselves on such good results.

Then, Rosie arrived home. And the pic of Sassy looked like an ink blot instead of a dog. It just wouldn't do. More pictures had to be taken.

With slow film and sunlight, I posed the family in the backyard to get Rosie and Sassy included. Of course, the first pics were out because of the difference in light.

The backyard shots didn't please anybody but Rosie. She wasn't squinting too bad but Phoebe looked as though she had been struck by a floodlight coming out of a darkened room.

Of course, in this backyard effort we completely forgot Rich. This pic of me was sorry compared to the first one taken.

Phoebe wouldn't use the backhard pic and the soft light pics wouldn't blend with the backyard shots. It was with great reluctance, and with some defeatism, that I pasted up these pics for the engraver. Part of them would be dark and part light. . . .they would look terrible.

It turned out that the engraver took Friday off. This gave me until Monday to do something about this static situation.

Armed with camera, film and flashbulbs, I descended on the family. I sat them down one by one in the living room at exactly the same distance from the camera under identical exposure conditions.

Rich snapped one of me following the same program.

With film developed, and prints made, a sales effort was inaugurated. I called by telephone and gave a glowing account of the pictures. I told how they flattered one and all (they are good), and how young they made us oldsters appear and how dignified Rich looked.

When I arrived at home, the family was sold without first glance. With no struggle, they picked a set of pictures, agreeing unanimously.

Gleefully, I pasted these up and shot them in to the engraver. They are going to look swell when finished.

A brief rundown on costs indicates that the first card off the press will cost a little less than twentyfive bucks.

TIME PASSES

15 Years Ago

Miss Elsa Stamm left Upland for duty with the "Waves" and was en route to Cedar Falls for training. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Stamm.

Selective Service was urging youths of 18 years of age to register. It was anticipated there would be 80 registered before the end of December.

A citizen in the Upland jail gave way to hunger after a fast of four days. He was held for investigation in connection with a robbery and for tampering with mail.

Uplanders were urged to continue saving empty tin cans, and The Upland News, printed directions on how to prepare them for collection.

25 Years Ago

Chaffey students had donated hundreds of pounds of food to the needy.

Chas. Gage had returned from an 8500 mile trip and was encouraged by business conditions he observed throughout the country.

A combined choir of between 50 and 60 voices, made up of members of the First Methodist and First Presbyterian choirs, were to be heard in a program of old carols. J. Lynward Grahame was to direct the group.

New Books . . . . . For You

At Upland Public Library

BY DR. HAZEL PULLING
LIBRARIAN

Two books on the foreign scene stand out above all others this week. NOT BY BREAD ALONE by Vladimir Dudinkev is a novel declared by Soviet literat: to be the first honest Russian novel since Stalin cast all fiction into a pro-Stalin mold in 1932. Expressive of a hunger for freedom of the Russian people, the book breaks from the usual pattern of Soviet literature to tell a deeply warm and human story of an inventor who ran the gamut of burearecratic chicanery to win state production of his product. The book was condemned in Russia as a libel on Soviet society and tattered copies are said to be secret possessions of the people. The American publisher backs its release in America on the belief that it is an important revelation of the wish of the Russian people for a freer way of life and on the necessity for us to know the workings of the Russian mind if we are to remain free.

The other book is Charles Thayer's THE UNQUIET GERMANS. This is an experienced traveler and social observer's view of the Germans of the second generation after Hitler. He is concerned with the present-day youth's reaction to the Nazism of their parents. Thayer attempts to view the sins of the past through the eyes of the presently young German, to discover what, to his satisfaction, were the causes, his parents' attitudes, and to evalute, sometimes excuse, their activities. Plans and thinking of today's Germans, now restless, are revealed and their future is evaluated. The author finds no exact solution for the problems in German's unquiet land.

In lighter vein is Elizabeth Taylor's novel, ANGEL, said to be one of her best. Funny and sad at the same time this is the story of a young lady novelist who took herself so seriously that her novels won success despite and because of her writing ineptitude. It's a clever little story, one you'll enjoy when you've nothing else to do.

THE DOG WHO WOULDN'T BE by Farley Mowat is a story of a dog who just wouldn't be a dog and the boy who owned him but who never really owned him. If you've ever owned a dog (?) like Mutt, you'll understand why he really couldn't be even if he had wanted to.

TODAY'S NEUROTIC FAMILY by Dr. Harry Tashman is a psychonalist's view of why and how families spoil families. He tells us how to recognize our own special neurotic deviltry and gives us suggestions for developing normal patterns of living.

A newcomer among our books for you at Upland Public Library is a growing collection of fine long-play records. They are being made ready for you to take home to play to your heart's content. Give yourself a real treat and enjoy Toscanini and Rachmaninoff at home some evening. Recordings will circulate for one week.

Dr. James V. Latimer This Life We Live

GOD GAVE HIS SON . .

"And Mary said,
'My soul doth magnify the Lord
And my spirit hath rejoicing
In God my Saviour.'

"And a multitude of the heavenly host,
Singing and praising God, saying
'Glory to God in the highest,
And on earth peace among men
In whom he is well pleased.' "

That this is truly a time of Good Will is illustrated by the fine greeting cards received from many places and from many friends. I have been a member of a world-wide organization that serves well and always. So there have come to me greetings from England, Switzerland, Uruguay and Pakistan as well as from many places in our own land, even from the great city of New York. They have come from Formosa also, and from Belgian Congo, for people there are also working for the coming in of the Kingdom of God. In some way we belong to the world as such and not only to our own small field of endeavor. I am glad for that.

A casual look about might give one the impression that the Lord of Christmas has been forgotten and lost, excepting by those who sell and walk the paths of commerce. It is true that not all of our known world seeks peace and exercises Good Will among Men, yet those who know God remember that He Gave, and it was an Only Son.

However there is reason for hope. It seems that never before has there been such a sense that in this world there is no East or West; in fact, there is now no North or South. There is a growing feeling of equality, and we rejoice in it. As never before a report of loss and suffering touches the hearts of men. This is true whether the report covers hurricanes in the south or the burning of some home in the remote parts of our land. Communications bring the news to us as never before, and we are touched with the feelings of their infirmities. Our hearts are stirred, and at times we also Give.

This revealed Love of God encourages us to believe that it is meant not only for use on Sundays, but is for every hour of every day throughout the year. That lays a tremendous obligation on us and we cannot meet it with local currency or checks. It calls for love and for the consideration of others. That is, God had no funds on which to draw when He wanted to Give, so He gave His best, and that was an Only Son. That is what makes this such a wonderful time for all, and lifts our hearts above family and friends alone, and up to Him Who gave us the Christ Mass. Our God was not concerned about things; He wanted good will and love. Because He Loved, He Gave.

Let us then not be niggardly in the matter of kindly deeds, courtesy, gentleness and of love. These are of God.

A Merry Christmas To You All.

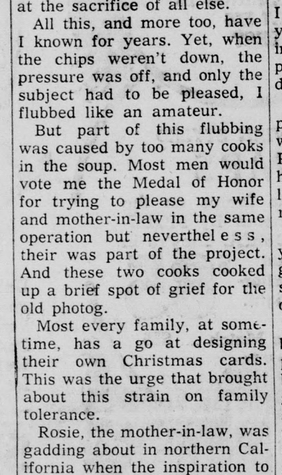

To be Courteous

President-Elect McLeish Lists Kiwanis Chairmen, Committees

Alexander McLeish, president-elect of Upland Kiwanis club at the Dec. 10 meeting of the club, announced committees for 1958. The committee chairmen, selected by the board, met with the officers Dec. 6 for a dinner meeting in The Sage Hen restaurant.

Mr. McLeish charged the board and chairmen to exert their leadership in determining the success of the club in 1958. He stressed "every member participation" as a vital factor, as well as the "solidarity" of the club. He told of the danger of a club growing too fast and losing its solidarity in the process.

President John Nicholson stressed the importance of each committee working on a project and making official reports each month. Don Gannon, second vice president, said the monthly reports serve as a reminder of a chairman's responsibility.

Committees for 1958 are the following: Agriculture and Conservation, Chairman Joe Kamansky, Harold Wilder, Dr. Kenneth Wilcox, Gannon and Max Hawkins; Boys and Girls work, Chairman Chas. Gehrken, John Burnison, Dale Stevens, Harold Wilder, Robt. Erickson, Wilcox and Jack Mishler; Key club, Chairman Max Hawkins, Robt. Living Pictures In Tableaux Friday Night

Seven living pictures arranged in tableaux to re-create the spirit of the early Italian altar paintings will be the Chaffey college contribution to the "Festival of the Light of the World," a program of music and art. The program will be given in the Gardiner W. Spring auditorium Friday.

The pictures as created will include The Annunciation, The Manger, Three Wise Men, The Shepherds, The Prophecy, Mary and the Child, and The Adoration.

College students and townspeople will take part. Douglas McClellan, Chaffey art department head, explains: "The living pictures will tell the Christmas story in stylized and sympolic terms of the Renaissance using richly decorated surfaces to achieve a splendor of things beyond this earth rather than in terms of human emotion. Their message is one of the spirit and they serve as a celebration of the miracle of Christ's birth. Because of this very religious spirit, they form a fitting visual accompaniment to the glorious music of this season."

The tableaux will be shown in a picture frame 12 x 13 feet in size behind the scrim curtain. The singers and orchestra will be on the stage near them.

McClellan is assisted by Instructors and students. Instructors Lewis Grimm and Robert Smith in technical work; Mrs. Mary Louise Smith, costumes; Jesse Weaver and McClellan sets; Miss Gretchen Lizer, directing. Student committee includes Tom Hicks, Steven Knittell, Sherrie Hamm, Louis Young, Nancy Huston, Mrs. Kathryn Arnett, Mrs. Beulah Sharp and Bill Laird.

Boys' Physical Fitness Tested

Upland High school Director of Athletics Harvey Shirk provides the "count" for Larry Kirby, a sophomore, and Stewart Hunter, a junior, as they get in position of "push ups," one of the physical fitness tests being given all boys at the school. Six exercise tests are given as part of the school's physical fitness program for all boys' physical education classes, at the beginning of the school year and at the close of each semester. A state program is being set-up in all California schools, according to Coach Shirk.

—Upland News Staff Photos

SIT UPS are done by Stewart Hunter as Larry Kirby holds his legs in position, as part of the UHS physical fitness tests, which also include the 50 or 100-yard dash, softball throw, push-ups, chin-ups and the four-count burpee.

Boys' physical education dept. at Upland High school is participating in a state-wide project on physical fitness.

Under the direct supervision of an experienced instructor, each boy is given four tests to complete, including the standing broad jump, pull-up, set-up, 50 or 75-yard dash, and throw for distance (soft ball).

Youth Center Speakers Urge Christmas Gifts Be Saved For January Fund Campaign

By JOEL BAUGH

"Save our Christmas gift for our house to house campaign in January," is the slogan of Upland-Ontario youths representing The Oasis, new Chaffey district youth center, who are appearing before local organizations and civic groups to tell about the new center and plans for its proposed building.

A three-acre site in the vicinity of Mountain Ave. and Seventh St. in Upland, just north of the freeway, is now receiving prime consideration of the youth center leaders. A building with parking lot to accommodate 2,000 youths of this area is contemplated, and the group has decided to build as no fireproof structure is available for rent or sale.

Appear Before Council

Madeline Patane and Frank Batchelor represented The Oasis in an appearance before Upland city council Thursday, Dec. 5, accompanied by Mrs. Clark W. Green and Mrs. J. W. Robertson, adult advisors.

They told the councilmen that their January financial campaign must raise $50,000 to enable them to buy three acres and erect a building "shell". The latter would be erected by April. Batchelor said that all leads have been exhausted in attempting to lease, rent or buy an existing building in this area. "One owner of an available building refused to sell and asked $600 a month to rent," the youth leader said. "We decided it would be more profitable to build."

Trial Year Suggested

Councilman Abner Haldeman asked if the group had considered renting for a year to judge the success of the youth center before building. Both youth center spokesmen replied that they had decided against this course of action as the only available building would cost $600 monthly rent and was not fireproofed to afford adequate protection.

Mrs. Green summed up the purposes and objectives of The Oasis when she added, "It's not a gimmick, it's not a gag. It is a youth center, self-governed by youth with an adult advisory board." She reported that more than 1,000 such centers have proved successful, all based on the original center organized in 1943 in La Grange, Ill. Referring to the forthcoming fund campaign, Mrs. Green reported $98,000 was raised in La Grange in four days for that youth center. "That town never heard fund requests from the center for 13 years, and then bonds were sold to build a new center, and is being paid back over a 12-year period."

Independence Vital

She explained that a youth center must be independent of the schools, for despite the cooperation of the school officials, such centers seldom succeed. She cited six such failures in the Chaffey district. "It must be fully independent to be a success," she contended.

Mrs. Green, who is responsible for the area youth movement for a youth center, said the local plan called for a $5,000 stabalizing fund so The Oasis would never have need of a second fund campaign.

Urges Faith In Youth

Mrs. Robertson, adding her comments on The Oasis, said: "As a mother, I believe in this. We carry our kids through their infancy, Cub scouts, Girl and Boy scouts, serve in the PTA— and believe me, we must do this—but at the crucial age, we drop them."

"Let's have faith in our teen-agers," the Upland Red Cross leader concluded in support of the youth center.

Miss Patane reported a 100 x 120 foot building has been suggested. The building proposed for early construction would provide the "Shell' for the ultimate center planned. It would basically be floor, roofs and walls, the representatives said, with a food grill to be added later. Much of the interior work and decoration would be accomplished by the student members of the center.

Incorporation of the center as a non-profit organization has been accomplished, according to Batchelor, and the current membership drive is progressing well.

Jr. High Will Change Leagues In Athletics

Beginning next fall, Upland Jr. High school athletic teams will compete in a new interscholastic league, the Sunset league, as a result of the district trustees having recently approved the request of the Jayhi coaches and Principal Edwin P. Dean.

Better competition and a decreased transportation problem will be obtained by the change in Athletic leagues. This year the school continues to play in the San Gabriel Valley league, which has become a small league including only Upland, La Verne, Mt. View of El Monte, and Azusa. Upland has dominated the League in recent years.

Coach Geo. Schilens of the Jayhi varsity football team, earlier this season told The Upland News he was anxious to change leagues. The Sunset league now includes the teams of two Fontana and two Colton junior high schools. Upland's admittance to the League is virtually assured for next September.

Launch Scout Safety Program

Broken Arrow and Serrano district Scouters launched their 1958 Safety-Good Turn project Tuesday evening, 7:30 as institutional representatives and members-at-large assembled in First Methodist Church of Upland for instruction as safety salesmen.

Each Scouter attended was given a kit of materials for use in a personal interview with each unit leader. It is hoped that every pack, troop, and Explorer unit in both districts will follow the lead of other districts and councils across the nation with 100% participation in three major safety projects during the coming year. Institutional representatives not able to attend should send an alternate other than their unit leader, according to Geo. Van Tubergin, district executive.

Local Employers Consider "A-I-D" Fund Program

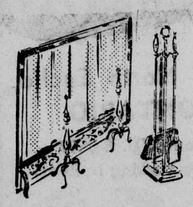

Local employers are considering the feasibility of adopting the "A-I-D" program by their organizations in providing a practical method of contributing to the various local fund drives.

Under the direction of Dr. Kenneth Wilcox, chairman of Upland Community chest, an informal meeting of interested persons was held in Sycamore Inn at noon Dec. 9. The initials stand for "Associated In-Group Donors". When this plan is used, employes and the employer contribute on a regular basis to local welfare groups and other worthy causes.

Toastmasters Now Meeting In Upland

Upland's new Toastmasters' club is today at an enthusiastic start, meeting Tuesday evenings in the Stuft Shirt restaurant. While there are only 16 members at present, indications point to a rapid increase. Sam Grasso, 900 N. Ninth Ave., is president.

Leaders of various local organizations attended the recent meeting to help inaugurate the club in its new meeting place. While the club has been formed for several months, it is being given new impetus due to the selection of the Stuft Shirt as a regular meeting place.

Each meeting several of the members speak, either on prepared subjects or extemporaneously. Dallas Richen was awarded the title of "best speaker" at the meeting. Wm. Thomas, however, was distinguished as the club member most active for the group's welfare during the last six months and he was also cited as having given the best talk on the table topic.

Robt. Metzger and Mr. Thomas were the other speakers on prepared subjects. N. C. DiPaolo was the leader of the table topic with Steven Douglas serving as toastmaster. Horton Swisher, long-time member of the Ontario Toastmaster club, who lives in Upland, reviewed his experiences in the club and he appealed for more persons in the community to join the group.

Other club members not previously mentioned are Douglas Adams, Will Edward, Milton Fisher, C. J. Harrell, Alfred Hastings, Howard Siemens, Frank Smiderly, Clifford Vogler, Herbert Vogler and Woodrow Wiles.

T'was chuck full of gifts---such beautiful things:
A stuffed dragon's head complete with smoke rings,
A full suit of armor, new knells for the bells,
A home-magic kit with guaranteed spells.
"Gadzooks!" quoth the King, "Where'd you get the cash?"
"I'm a wise buyer, sire" the knight said in a flash.
"Each month through the year saved some of my pay
In a Christmas Club fund at our bank---B of A!"
